Scottsdale Center For Dentistry Introduces Comprehensive CEREC® Curriculum Including Software, Business, And Live Patient Courses.

(Scottsdale – November 8, 2007) – The Scottsdale Center for Dentistry is now offering one of the most comprehensive CEREC® CE curricula available. Courses are taught by Drs. Sameer Puri and Armen Mirzayan, two of the best known and most experienced CEREC® instructors and co-founders of the premier online CEREC® CE resource, www.cerec.doctors.com.

The new continuum features a full range of programs that include intermediate Master Mode education (focusing on software), advanced posterior and anterior programs, a live patient workshop where participants learn the best CEREC® techniques for quadrant and anterior esthetic dentistry, and a management integration course taught by Scottsdale Center CEO Imtiaz Manji; supported by Drs. Puri and Mirzayan.

In addition to its comprehensive approach to CEREC® education, the curriculum is organized so participants can take the one day intermediate course and stay on for an advanced course over the following two days. This means that in only three days, doctors can become thoroughly proficient with CEREC® software and clinical technique.

“The feedback has been tremendous,” says Dr. Puri. “We constantly hear that these courses are the best that participants have ever attended. Course attendees share that the concepts learned during the course have help change how they do dentistry, increasing their practice enjoyment and profitability. It’s not just the doctors we receive feedback from. Team members say our courses are the best they have ever attended and they feel better equipped to help their doctors integrate CEREC® into everyday practice.”

The Scottsdale Center for Dentistry officially opened in April 2007 with the goal of becoming the leading post-graduate education center for dentists and their teams through pragmatic, evidence-based, patient-centered knowledge delivered with truth and integrity. Full course descriptions are provided on the Center website (www.scottsdalecenter.com).
